Film School 4 Teens Intro to Filmmaking course teaches an in-depth look into filmmaking, start to finish in 18 two-week sections (36 weeks). Students learn the art of filmmaking as well as create their own short film for a final project. Along with filmmaking, students also learn film history and film analysis. Every other week students develop critical thinking skills while watching a specific film and writing a film report. Intro to filmmaking also includes a short film history video each week. Along with weekly lessons, the students will have assignments, demonstrations, workshops and quizzes. Intro to Film is a year long and worth 1 high school elective credit. (120 hours) Upon completion of the INTRO to FILMMAKING course, we invite students to turn in their final film project for a review, feedback and a grade from a film instructor/coach. Course Syllabus, Grading Rubric and Transcript Description available on student dashboard.
